TEN KILLED IN DESERT CRASH - This is the smoking wreckage of an automobile involved in a head-on crash with a big truck-trailer on the desert highway near Baker, Calif., in which 10 persons were killed, including a wedding-bound young couple. Nine persons riding in the auto and the truck driver died in the ghastly crash. The picture was made by an amatuer photographer, a truck driver, Tommy Thompson. (AP Wirephoto)

done by Sen. McCarthy.

The old favorite household remedies for removing ink stains from fabrics are myths. The most common one is "soaking the ink stain in milk." This probably got started because lactic acid is quite effective in removing the old tannate-type ink stains, and it was probably thought that the milk would sour as the stain soaked . . . forming lactic acid that would react with the ink. However, the amount of lactic acid formed is not sufficient to be eftective on an ...k-stain-and, in fact, the milk may be more difficult to remove than the ink itself! Another ill-advised home remedy that is dangerous is the use of oxalic acid. This is not used even in a commercial drycleaning plant (except in very rare cases when it may be used as a reducing bleach) because of the dangers it presents. Oxalic acid is poisonous, hence should not be kept around the home. Moreover, it is difficult to rinse it from a fabric, with the result that it often causes fabre deterioration and discoloration in a short while.

We'll get right to the point.

The comments we've been getting from many new Buick owners about the new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow are terrific.

And the reason is—this fully automatic transmission is, in itself, terrific.

It has a new, firm, solid "take-hold"gives you instant getaway response. It has new quiet - you can barely hear

It has unique and utter simplicity of operation. You just move your Selector into Drive range, press the pedal, and go. That's all.

the acceleration build-up.

But the sweetest thing of all about TT Dynaflow is its smoothness.

You move from standstill to your legal speed in one progressive build-up of power delivery.

You feel a constant "carry" of forward motion, unbroken in any way-because here no gearshifting takes place, either manually or automatically.

Even your deceleration is infinitely smooth and gradual, with the cushioned control of flowing oil slowing down.

Wouldn't you like to sample this wonderful new getaway and pleasant quiet and immaculate smoothness?

We'll be glad to seat you at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflow-and let the thrills come where they may. Drop in soon, won't

Diet Cut Jet Pilots' Success Against Reds

By VERN HAUGLAND AP Aviation Reporter

WASHINGTON (A) - Two Air Force medical officers said today that digestive gas generated by combat zone meals apparently interferred with the flying and fighting of Sabre jet pilots in

A squadron fed a special diet of non-gas-forming foods averaged 4.2 times as many claims of success against enemy planes as did pilots in two other squadrons similar in all other respects but fed regular messhall fare, the researchers reported.

The test was described by Capt. Frederich J. Hinman, a psychiatrist, and Capt. Mary C. Horak, a dietician, in the Air University Quarterly Review, an Air Force publication.

They said the difference in performance records "can be considered significant," although they were unwilling to credit it entirely to the diet.

The tests were undertaken because of "an increasing number of complaints from fighter pilots reporting abdominal cramps of varying severity during flight." Some pilots, flying at more than 45,000 feet with cabin pressures equivalent to altitudes as high as 35,000 feet, suffered abdominal pains so sharp and cramping they had to discontinue their missions or descend to lower altitudes.

the Mississippi River in steamboat days carried with them special "ribbon" maps of the river and in 1078 by William the Conqueror, the Royal Academy of Stockholm. The maps averaging two to four inches wide by about 10 feet long, were rolled into cylinders which the traveler unrolled to follow the river as his boat moved down the stream.

Today those old ribbon maps are valuable collector's items, according to Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary of the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia. Dealers in rare books price them at as much as $125 each, and any Missourian who finds one in his attic should investigate its value before tossing it onto the junk pile.

The State Historical Society two of these rare maps of the Mississippi. One is the "Ribbon Map of the Father of Waters.' published by Coloney and Fairchild in St. Louis in 1866. The other is a map of "The Mississippi, Alton to the Gulf of Mexico, as seen from the Hurricane Deck," published in New York in 1861. Both show plantations, towns, the landings and mileage points along the river as it appeared in the

AIR TRAVEL IS UP-The remarkable growth of civil air travel in recent years is shown by the steadily rising lines on the Newschart above. It is based on a recent bulletin of the International Aviation Organization, Montreal. Bulletin gave data in kilometers, which have been translated into mileages on the chart, accounting for the lack of customary round figures. The ICAO points out that the world's scheduled airlines carried 45 million passengers in 1952, compared with 39,900,000 in 1951 and 21 million in 1947. In the U.S., airline passenger traffic was about equal to the Pullman (first class) railway services in 1951 and exceeded it by 20 per cent in 1952. Nearly 1,400,000 people traveled by air between the U.S. and overseas countries last year

Stopped in Plattsburg the other day to get a bite of lunch and found out something I didn't know. Learned that Plattsburg is the home of the "president for one day".

Seems as though David Rice Atchison, who lived on a farm near Plattsburg, was president pro tem of the United States Senate when Zachary Taylor was inaugurated as president.

Since March 4, 1849, the inauguration day, fell on a Sunday. lelaying Taylor's inauguration till Monday, lots of people contend Atchison was president on Sunday.

From where I sit, Missourians have the right to their own opinion on whether Atchison was president or not. Matter of fact, tolerance and respect of other people's opinions is freedom in action. Maybe we all don't think the same, eat the same or drink the same, but in a free country, why should we? You may like a glass of buttermilk while I enjoy a glass of beer, we're both entitled to our own preference.

Let this can help you out with the dishes!

Hundreds of women tell us that new Lux Liquid Detergent saves them a lot of time and bother. One canful will wash more dishes than several boxes of the most popular laundry powder. And it's almost as mild on your hands as Lux Toilet Soap.

New Lux Liquid Detergent really helps you out with the dishes because it's especially made for washing dishes. Lux Liquid does the job like no washday powders can.

Nothing can touch it for getting dishes, pots and pans sparkling clean. It literally soaks them clean. It cuts away the grease. Gets between the clinging grease and the dish. Dissolves the grease.

Another thing you'll like about Lux Liquid is the way it makes instant suds. That's because it's already dissolved. And it's almost as mild as Lux Toilet Soap.

Now, how about cost? Lux Liquid

Detergent is far more economical than the best-selling laundry powder.

Just a few drops wash the dishes. One trial will show you how little you have to use.

There's a money-back Lever Brothers guarantee, of course, but judging by the way women are raving about this new Lux Liquid Detergent, we believe you're going to like it a whole lot, too.

South Carolina reported one of the hottest summers in history. Tennessee had 15 new heat records during the summer. In Kentucky there were several periods of five and six straight days of temperatures between 95 and 100, Some sections of North Carolina had the driest July and August ever recorded.

The drought was a major problem in Texas and several Southern states, including counties in Arkansas, Mississippi, Kentucky, South Carolina and Tennessee. Normal summer weather was reported in Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

Rains in late August, causing flash floods in South Texas, and wiping out drought in much of that area, also helped cattle ranges and raised cotton and grain sorghums prospects over most of the state except Far West Texas.

Late summer crops and pastures are suffering from drought in Arkansas where 50 of 75 counties are eligible for federal drought relief. Four counties in Northwestern Mississippi have been declared a relief area. Fifteen counties in Western Kentucky have been designated disaster areas.

In California, cool weather has delayed cotton, barley, rice and other field crops and cut the production of some. Cotton, the state's biggest money crop, is developing late because of early cool weather, and production is expected to be below last year. A similar situation exists in fruits, including apples, pears, grapes and olives.

While Attorney General Herbert Brownell, on the whole, is operating one of the best departments in the Eisenhower administration, some of the corruption cleanups promised by the Republicans haven't been moving at anywhere near the pace promised.

One of the most important, the deportation of gangsters and under-world characters illegally residing in the United States, has been especially slow. Though Ex-Attorney General Mc-Granery listed 133 criminals and underworld leaders illegally in this country, only two have been deported in the eight months that have passed since January 20.

The Justice Department explains that 20 gangsters are almost ready to be deported; also, that it takes time to prepare the papers and hear various appeals. A considerable number of subversives have been added to McGranery's list, it is also stated.

Nevertheless, two criminals deported out of 133 in eight months seems like awfully slow work. Note-The most important man to watch will be Frankie Costello and what happens to him. Costello has more political pull in both political parties than almost anyone else in New York

Searching for Labor Secretary

Ike and his scouts have contacted about everyone on the labor front looking for a good man to take Martin Durkin's place as secretary of labor.

Chief scout is Vice President Nixon, who used the opportunity to make a little political hay with certain labor people. Obviously you don't make enemies when you call up a labor leader or a congressman who's not been too enthusiastic about Nixon in the past and ask him how he would like to be secretary of labor.

Among those contacted have been Ray Le Haney of the Teamsters Union in Los Angeles, and Congressman Sam McConnell of Philadelphia. Le Haney is secretary-treasurer of the AFL union label and service trades and a comer in labor ranks. But he's too forthright a labor man to be accepted into the Eisenhower cabinet, and Nixon must have known it.

Congressman McConnell is a middle-of-the road, fairminded banker who would make an excellent secretary of labor, but whose exit from the house labor committee of which he is chairman would be a bad blow to labor.

If McConnell should leave congress and the labor committee, he would be replaced by one of them most reactionary labor-haters in congress. Ralph Gwinn of New York. Also on the house committe as such anti-labor men as Wint Smith of Kansas and Clare Hoffman of Michigan, so Speaker Joe Martin has given the quiet word that it would be bad for McConnell to vacate the chairmanship.

It won't do labor much good, Martin figures, to draft a new Taft-Hartley act, then have the new chairman of the labor committee pigeonhole it.

Another man being pushed for the labor post is ex-Congressman Gerald Landis of Indiana, an ex-coal miner. Though a Republican, Landis voted for labor on almost every measure before congress; was the author of the federal mine inspection bill and the industry-wide bargaining bill. He has the support of Senators Capehart and Jenner of Indiana, but some Ike advisers think he might be just as difficult to handle as Martin Durkin was.

Note-Ike's tactics in selecting cabinet officers are just the opposite from Harry Truman's. Mr. Truman usually announced a successor on the same day a cabinet member resigned, and as a result picked some beauts. Julius Krug, the man who replaced Harold Ickes, was a precipitous choice and was later eased out. Eisenhower, on the other hand, has all sorts of names thrown at him before he makes a decision.

New Soviet Farm Policy

In reversing its farm policies recently, the Soviet Union has come up with another of those confessions of weakness which have become fairly common since Stalin died last spring.

During the past few years, the Kremlin has had a big drive on to weld together countless small farms into huge collectives which would match in scale the already organized collectives. The plan was, in effect, to industrialize agriculture, to develop "farm factories."

At the same time, the Russians sought firmly to discourage the stubborn displays of individual enterprise which Soviet peasants have insisted upon despite all pressures. Millions of farmers had slyly found ways to work more hours for themselves and less for the government. Ruthlessly these practices were being stamped out.

Now it is all changed. The collectivizing drive has stopped. And henceforth the peasants will be encouraged to produce on a "free enterprise" basis. Existing collectives, of course, will go on as before. The reason is simple but compelling: Russian population gains are far outstripping food production, and all efforts to get bigger output through repressive measures have failed.

The Will to Compromise

The UN's quick action in barring for the rest of this year the issue of admitting Red China is actually a compromise, not a smashing victory for the United States.

Britain and other countries which favor Red China's entry into UN have not changed their minds. They have merely agreed to postpone their demands.

They did this in the interest of free world solidarity. The recent bitter UN fight over the question of allowing India to take part in a Korean political conference gave the Communists great pleasure. They enjoy seeing free nations fight among themselves. But Britain and the U.S. were determined it would not happen again—at least for a good while.

That the will to compromise the matter even for a few months could exert itself so forcefully as a good sign. We can't expect to avoid important differences with our allies. What counts is a basic desire not to let them spilt us seriously and permanently.

A pastor says that most men are master of the

Problems of Disunity Must Be Faced Soon by Democrats

By Bruce Biossat

Adlai Stevenson made a joke about it. He said the Republicans might soon accuse the Democrats of enjoying "creeping harmony."

At the well-publicized meeting of Democrats in Chicago, signs of party unity did indeed seem to be strong. As former President Truman conceded, being in the minority is partly responsible. Nothing unites a group like diversity. Democrats in Congress this year gave plenty of evidence

Yet the look of unity is in fact somewhat deceptive. The issues that have divided the party in the past have not vanished. Civil rights will be heard from again, and the battle of northern liberals and southern conservatives will continue. Those matters lie relatively quiet now because the Democrats do not have a President of their own party pressing civil rights legislation or liberal reforms. Nothing has occurred so far to suggest that the conflicts will not flare anew when the Democrats get around again to choosing a presidential nominee and a platform.

There could have been trouble at Chicago over the so-called loyalty pledge introduced into the convention rules last year. The pledge called on all delegates to do all in their power to see that convention nominees got on the various state ballots under the Democratic label. It was designed to take the steam out of revolts like the Dixiecrat affair of 1948.

But the preachers of unity prevailed at this first important Democratic gathering since Stevenson's defeat. A committee was named to study the loyalty issue, and a breach now was

As 1956 draws closer, the dilemma will have to be faced. Moreover, party leaders will have to confront the fact that a number of southerners who bolted to President Eisenhower in 1952 may not come back into the fold. A few of these were missing from Chicago this time. It can be glossed over now, but not when there's an election.

At Chicago the party leaders made beginning efforts to develop a new set of issues for use against the Republican regime in 1954. They hope to make capital out of falling farm prices. Martin Durkin's resignation as secretary of labor, and cuts in the defense program.

But this stands out: Stevenson is the No. 1 Democrat. He presides over the party's newfound but still skin-deep unity. Whether he can hold this position long enough to become a serious candidate for 1956 depends partly npon how vigorously he leads, and partly on whether his fellow Democrats in all regions can see in him a man capable of encouraging a deeper party unity and forging a fresh party program.

Losing Weight Is Easy M Right Diet Is Followed

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

A Correspondent writes she weighs about fifteen pounds more than she should, but that she cannot lose on a 1500 calorie diet, even when she walks three miles a day.

By way of preliminary remark, it may be said that this writer will not use up many calories in walking three miles a day. Obviously she needs a diet of less than 1500 calories if she is to lose her fifteen pounds and get back to her normal

The amount of energy used in a day varies from one person to another—a farmer or lumberman will use more than someone who sits all day at a desk. Consequently, a diet which will enable one person to shed unwanted poundage will be more than enough for another.

The heat and fat producing value of foods is measured in calories. Excess calories can be stored as fat, so for practical purposes if more calories are taken in than are used up a person will gain weight.

The reverse is also true, and reducing diets should be carefully planned so they contain enough of the necessary food-stuffs rich in protein, minerals and vitamins.

In general, a reducing diet should be low in fats and in starches or carbohydrates since the latter are converted into fat by the body. As a rule fatty foods and those containing starch have to be almost eliminated to lose weight and their place taken by bulky foods which have fewer calories.

People Don't Know

Many people too, do not realize whole milk is more fattening than skim milk and some vegetables and fruits contain a lot more carbohydrate

Those desiring to lose should have a diet for them containing whatever number of calories they will need. If the diet is followed rigidly the loss of weight will show up soon and after a while the stomach seems to adjust to smaller quantities of food so that dieting becomes easier.

Manners Make Friends-

The reason you have a feeling, when you are invited to the Browns, that you are just another name checked off a social list is because Mrs. Brown talks too much. She is always saying: "I simply must do something about the so-andso's." And "I've got to have a party and pay back all the people I owe."

Such talk makes Mrs. Brown's social invitations seem like business obligations.

Tigers to Meet Joplin Friday On New Cridiron

Season tickets are now being sold for the Smith-Cotton High School football games which are to be played on the new gridiron at the Jennie Jaynes Lewis Memorial Stadium. Tickets are available from most any high school student or can be obtained through the following business houses: J. C. Penney's or Mullins Men's Those holding the season tickets will have an opportunity to sit in a reserved section of the new stadium. The reserved section will be the center section of the stadium on the 50-yard line.

Although the tickets for the game are only 75 cents, the season ticket holders will be the only ones entitled to the reserved section. There is no extra charge for
